BRIEFING ON THE MALAYSIAN TECHNICAL COOPERATION PROGRAMME (MTCP)

BACKGROUND OF MTCP

The Malaysian Technical Cooperation Programme (MTCP) was established in 1980 as Malaysia's contribution to the South-South Cooperation. It is conducted through the sharing of Malaysia's development experiences and provision of training and technical advice in areas that are important for the development in developing countries.

144 Recipient Countries

84 Training Institutions

More than 37,800 Participants

Indonesia: 1724

OBJECTIVES OF MTCP

“We want to share the benefit of our experience with our friends throughout Asia and Africa because we have found that our national development work has paid great dividends.”
